A Survival Guide For When You Are Stuck In Your Favourite Book

Anupreksha Jain

AIS MV, XI B

With every new day, comes a new profession. Who would have thought that dog whisperer will also be a thing? Well, if you find this amusing then the fictional world has something more exciting than just this. In a place where imagination has zero limits, people who work here are equally interesting. Let's have a look on what could have been your dream job if fiction were to become reality.

Wand Making

Book: Harry Potter seriesSkill(s) required: Knowledge of the art of wand makingFamous wandmaker: Ollivander

"The wand chooses the wizard." As the name goes, this profession revolves around the world of witchcraft and wizardry. A wand maker must have in-depth knowledge of the field of work, or things can go wrong! For a wizard is nothing without a wand, and without a wand-maker, there'll be no wand!

Initiation Instructor

Book: DivergentSkill(s) required: Knowledge of all initiation tasksFamous Initiation Instructor: Tobias Eaton

The job of an initiation instructor is that of teaching the initiates about the rules and practices of the new faction that they will be a part of. Also like any other guru, it is their duty to equip the initiates against any dangers that may arise.

Book Doctor

Book: Inkheart TrilogySkill(s) required: Steady hands and love for booksFamous book doctor: Mortimer Folchart

A book doctor is one who restores the old pages and repairs the spine of books that are falling apart due to their growing age. He allows the books to age gracefully to go on to become classics. Now, this one is something we could do with in real life too.

Chocolate Inventor

Book: Charlie and the chocolate FactorySkill(s) required: Creative mindFamous chocolate inventor: Willy Wonka

This one is self-explanatory enough and has already made its way from the realm of fiction into the real world. Chocolates are children's one true love in the fictional world as well as in the real one. So, tie your aprons for the most 'tasteful' job.

Time Traveller

Book: The time machineThing(s) required: A time machineFamous time traveller: The Time Traveller

"Time never stops." True enough. But think, if it was your job to travel through time and explore its hidden wonders? How would that be? Welcome aboard the time machine, fellow time travellers! 🇮🇳

New Innovation For Amity

AUUP

Eminent scientists of Amity - Dr Ajit Varma, Amity Institute of Microbial Technology (AIMT); Dr Amit Kharkwal, Dy Director, AIMT; KS Bains, Advisor, Amity Institute of Training and Development and Hemesh Joshi, Scientist, AIMT innovated 'A Novel Endophyte for Plant Growth Promotion'. On July 31, 2018, an MoU and NDA-MTA agreement was signed for this innovation with M/s Smur Agro Ventures, leading promoter and producer of 100% scientific organic farming at AUUP Campus, Sector-125 Noida, by Udayan Arya, Founder Director of M/s Smur Agro Ventures and Dr BL Arya, Registrar, AUUP.

Dr Amit Kharkwal talked about the innovation based on microbial strain, a novel isolated Endophyte when treated with seeds, promotes plant growth and pest tolerance. Sharing his views, Udayan Arya avered, "This innovation has potential to increase productivity. Since the problem in crop starts at seed level, seed yielding provides with growth stimulus. India can become the biggest producer and user for organic farming, and a favourable testing ground due to the presence of all climatic conditions." Udayan Arya also called upon educational institutions to contribute through research partnership, by introducing new courses with curriculum formulated as per industry needs.
