Caring for your precious

Amity Daycare has truly been a blessing for me. While I'm at work, my mind is always at ease because I know my daughter is in a safe place. It's so comforting to see that someone either a teacher or a didi is always around to keep an eye on our children's safety and ensure that they are happy and entertained. Thank you for also being the secret to my child's healthy eating habits. Thank you for making her a better person each day. The difference you're making in our life is immeasurable.

Caring for your memories

Every parent wants to preserve his child's memories. So, when I received the documentation from Amiown Daycare Centre, I couldn't stop smiling. The documentation has truly been a wonderful way of re-living the moments spent by my daughter, Tiya in the daycare. In fact, those documents gave us a new insight into our daughter and made us realise what a curious and smart child she is.

Caring for your happiness

I have seen a lot of positive changes in my daughter ever since she started going to the daycare. She is so excited about going that she does not even wait to say a goodbye when I drop her. She can now count till 10 and has even started speaking alphabets. She is a much happier kid now.

Caring for your health

My son received full attendance award this year and for that I give full credit to the hygienic and healthy environment provided at the daycare centre. I have noticed that my son Saanvik also does not fall ill so frequently now. Thank you for taking utmost care of him.

Caring for your career

ADAC is great, especially for working women. The teachers and didis take care of your children like their own. Children are served with healthy and nutritious food, which takes away the worry of cooking for your child. Amiown has been great for my child, sure, but it has benefitted me too.

Caring for your growth

Ever since my son joined ADAC, there has been a marked improvement in his clarity of speech and eating habits. He often talks about other kids in the centre. He has also started identifying objects, characters, colours and is involved in many activities happening there. He is very attached to everyone there. I feel extremely glad that I enrolled him at Amity Daycare.

Caring for your learning

ADAC has been the perfect first school for my son. The teachers while encouraging them to learn new things always gave them a warm and cozy environment. With friendly and loving faces around, I see that my child takes interest in learning.
