AIS, Lucknow activ(ities)ated

Following the Amity tradition of learning things differently, AIS Lucknow gets a perfect headstart.

Farm friendly

The AIS-Lucknow team jaunted for a Dairy Farm on 23rd July, 2010. It was a learning experience for the students as they acquainted themselves with types of dairy products, their advantages and how these products are prepared.

Celebrating freedom – Amity style

August 9th to 13th was celebrated as the Independence Day. A play titled 'Tum Mujhe Khoon Do, Mein Tumhe Azadi Dunga' was staged depicting the life sketch of various freedom fighters. Tri coloured activities like- Slogan contest, flag making, salad tiranga, fancy dress, patriotic song and recitation were also held to rejoice our independence.

Aya sawan jhoom ke!

Masti and dhamal were the common sentiments as AIS-Lucknow welcomed the monsoon with tapping feet and flowery fervour on 30th July 2010. Hands painted with hena, delectable 'Ghewar' and flower dance show...what else could one ask for?

FLASHBACK 2010

Dil mange mango!

AIS, Lucknow had its first outing – a very savory one on 15th of May, 2010. Students headed to a mango orchid, where they learnt about various kinds of mango agriculture. They also got the chance to pamper their taste buds with the sweet flavour of mango.

Ramleela week

October 8th to 12th, 2010 was a week full of devotion and action as the students staged the series of Ramleela. Characters from the great epic- 'Ramayana' was illustrated, with immense relevance to the role casted.

Zoo Zoo

Zoooooo...screamed the students as they headed for the zoo on 19th of November, 2010. The students had a great time, taking a closer look at the animals. The drizzling weather changed the moods and a toy train joyride was an ideal deal undertaken after the delicious multi-state cuisine.

A day in History!

The Residency is one of the most visited cultural heritage sites in Lucknow. Students of Amity International School, Lucknow had the chance to visit this beautiful site on 10th December 2010. This heritage site is essentially a group of buildings that were built in 1800 A.D by the then Nawab of Oudh, Nawab Saadat Ali Khan. The Residency was constructed to serve as a residence for the British Resident General, who was a representative in the court of Nawab. The inquisitiveness of the children increased as they stepped on to the grounds of heritage site. The note-pads and pens captured the glory and history of the ruins. It was amazing to see countless queries pop up almost instantly in the minds of the young kids. The students had a great time exploring the historical site. The highlight of the day was the thrilling Kho-Kho match between students and teachers. It helped to thaw the teacher-student relation from the tight compartments of the classrooms. The trip ended with fun, memorable moments and enhanced knowledge.

Japan se leke India...

Mrs Sarita Aggarwal, Principal, Amity International School Mayur Vihar visited Japan from Dec 3 to 15, 2010 under the JENESYS programme hosted by AFS. The program was introduced by Dr (Mrs) Amita Chauhan, Chairperson Amity International Schools, to promote exchange of educational culture and pattern so as to learn and imbibe the best, provided her the wonderful opportunity to understand the people, culture and educational system of Japan from close quarters.

Impressed by their self discipline, concern for the environment and the technological advancement, Mrs Agarwal shares, "The schools in Japan have well equipped classrooms and follow an innovative and interactive approach." Applauding their efforts to inculcate the dignity of labour in students, she remarks, "Every member of the school is taught and encouraged to be responsible for the cleanliness and upkeep of the space that they utilized."

If the travel in Japan's High speed Train, Shinkansen gave her a thrilling experience of Japanese technology, Mrs Aggarwal also got a sneak peek into the Japanese Social structure during her stay with the host family. Their warm hospitality and lifestyle, which is in sync with the environment made the experience memorable. Their use of solar panels for keeping the house warm deserves special mention. The visit culminated in a grand festival which was a beautiful amalgamation of diverse cultures. Enriched with the exposure, the school is sure to benefit from this global experience.
